CHIEFTAIN 1970
PRESENTED BY
WACONIA HIGH SCHOOL
WACONIA, MINNESOTA

It is never simple to say enough good things about a person who has dedicated an entire lifetime to the service of others. Perhaps sincere respect and admiration is the truest measure of our regard for such a person. Adequate respect and admiration is communicated properly, only if there is a genuine and earnest feeling present.

Those students and fellow colleagues who have worked with Mrs. Gladys Johnson through her many years of service will understand this feeling and will enjoy a pleasant, reflective pause in her behalf. We take this occasion to recognize a life dedicated to the fulfillment of younger lives. We look back on many years of service and we go ahead remembering that there are those who are yet to be served. We will regard her contributions as among the most unselfish efforts of educational service that we can recall. We will recall her as a teacher who believed in boys and girls as young persons worthy of high price.

Tell It Like It Is

"Tell It Like It Is," written by Kurt Kaiser and Ralph Carmichael, is a folk musical about God. The lyrics and music were carefully written so to communicate to young people and concerned adults.

Performing the musical was the Waconia Pop Group and an accompaniment of piano, guitar, organ, and percussion. Lighting, staging, and choreography were used to enhance the message.

"Tell It Like It Is" performed in Waconia on January 10 and again on February 15. It also traveled to Cambridge, Watertown, Glencoe, Mayer Lutheran and at the time of this writing arrangements are being made to perform at some other high schools, colleges, churches and institutions in the metropolitan area.

Many students participated in decorating for the dance. These students made the dance a beautiful success.

Math Department

The mathematics department provides course offerings in both general and college prep mathematics. The general course equips the student with the necessary skills for solving vocational life. The college prep course begins with algebra and continues through geometry, trigonometry, and modern analysis. These all provide a background for later college level courses.

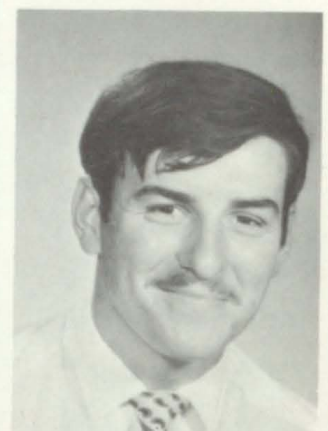

This year the upper level, the math department initiated a system of allowing the student to work at his own pace. This provides each individual with the opportunity of completing the required work and moving on to other areas within a year.

Science Department

The philosophy of the Science Department members is that discovery is the heart of science. We believe that there should be an emphasis on scientific inquiry and experience-centered activities for the student, and that the courses should aim to stress the development of concepts and principles rather than the memorization of facts. In accordance with this philosophy of science learning, the members of the Science Department feel that their role is to guide the conceptual learning of students rather than to serve as dispensers of information.

English Department

The English Department is currently concerned with the coordination and organization of its curriculum. The traditional course of English at each grade level is being phased out, and, in its place, some twenty four new courses are being planned for implementation into the curriculum. These will all be one half year in length and for one half credit.

The goal of the English Department is to bring about effective communications between one another. This is accomplished by a study of language not for its own sake, but for the explicit purpose of using it to communicate. It is, also, brought about by a rich study of literature, whereby, we learn how people act in varying situations, and therefore, how we should best react to them. This is communicative skill.

The art of being able to solve each other's needs by inter action with each other in a skillful and understanding way, it the primary behavioral objective in this department. To that end, we endeavor to employ and become semi-skilled at all aspects or modes of communication.

The Social Studies Department has been involved in re-vitalizing its study areas. There are 20 courses offered, most of which are one half credit. Projects are currently under way which involve students locally such as: the annexation of Lakeview Terrane, the water pollution of Lake Waconia, tracing of Waconia ancestry, the model city Jonathan, the benefits of the Federal Government and Project Better Beach. It is an attempt to get students to study possible problems and to get them to recognize that they exist. A current project with seniors is Student Concern. The purpose is to expose pre-school youngsters to learning situations as well as social situations.

The intent of the Physical Education and Health Department is to provide the student with knowledge and to develop attitudes which will lead to a healthy life. The Physical Education activities are planned to provide wholesome exercise during the development years and also to teach worthwhile leisure-time activities which will carry over into later life. The Health program is designed to enable the individual to understand himself and to be aware of his individuality as well as his role in society by attaining a better state of physical, mental and social well being.

The goals and objectives of the four Vocational Departments of Waconia High School are to train students for present and future employment in areas of their particular interest.

In all areas of Vocational Education the students are given an opportunity to learn skills and trades which will help them upon graduation to secure employment, or to secure a broad background in their area of interest to pursue a higher education at trade schools, area vocational schools or colleges.

Special Services

The Student Personnel Team works closely with members of the administrative and teaching staffs so that all of the school's resources are directed toward meeting the needs of the pupils. They have the responsibility for helping the administration develop, throughout the school, a guidance point of view which recognizes and respects each pupil as an individual. The Student Personnel Team works closely with parents, so that the school and home work together toward understanding and helping boys and girls. They are in close touch with community groups, employers, schools, and colleges, and local referred resources such as the churches, mental health services, vocational rehabilitation, employment service, welfare and probation officers.

W. H. S. Debater's Third Year Accomplishes Great Gains

Debate Members Make Stride

The W.H.S. Debate squad participated in twelve varsity tournaments this year including our own hosted tourney on Saturday, November 15.

At each tournament entered, the debaters participated in an average of three rounds of debate. Our victories this year averages nearly fifty percent for the beginners, and seventy five percent for the varsity squad of all debates entered. Debating the proposition, "Let it be resolved that Congress should prohibit unilateral military intervention in foreign countries," the squad took on teams from such schools as Blakes, Hopkins, Hastings, Duluth, Lakeville, Mason City, Iowa, Forest Lake, etc.

Our squad also went on three overnight trips. Regarding the "thrills" and "joy" of these trips, check with the debaters. The overnights were at Mankato, St. Cloud, and Gustavus Adolphus College. Mr. Feckler can provide further information on what a delight these trips were and how the captain, Rick Holtmeier, "led the way."

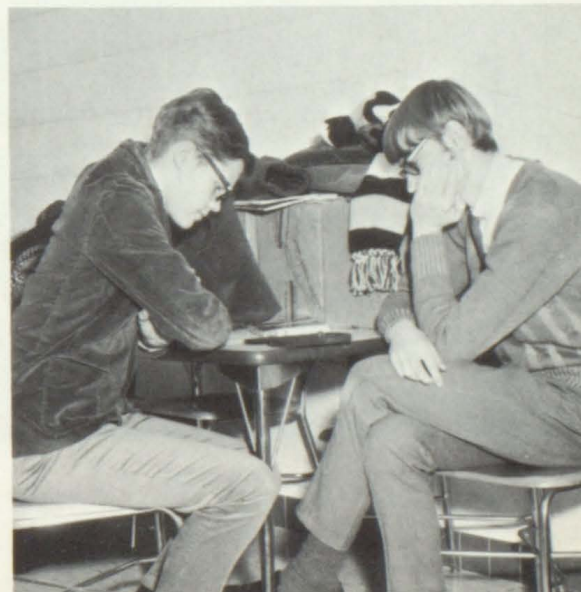

Our own home tourney was attended by nearly sixty schools and had over three hundred students participating, Hopkins won 1st place in both "A" and "B" Divisions at our tournament.

Debate Members: L. TO R., ROW 1: R. Heimark, D. Dahlin, R. Heger, C. Logelin, ROW 2: L. Berg, D. Schmakel, C. Lenzen, ROW 3: C. Heimark, R. Holtmeier, M. Lundgren, J. Wagener.

J. Notermann, P. Ziermann and J. Schulz help the students in the art program.

This past year, approximately 45 juniors and seniors undertook a series of projects working with youngsters. The most popular and successful of these projects was Student Concern.

Under the direction of Jan Notermann and Lynn Clark, a nursery school was developed which served 60 pre-schoolers.
The teenagers involved did a great job organizing and developing this program, designing lessons to help the preschoolers learn social adjustment, fine art activities and physical growth.

With the development of this project, students seemed to develop a keener sense of values in real live actions and learned responsibility on a practical level.
