

Chieftain 1986 Waconia High School 24 South Walnut Waconia, Minnesota 55387

Changing Times, which expresses some of the recent changes at WHS, seems to be a litting theme for the 1986 Chiefain. The yearbook staff has made an effort to cover some of hese changes, along with recapuring some of the die-hard raditions at Waconia. The 1985-86 school year has been an exciting one, full of ups and downs. Students, as in every year, had their share of good imes mixed with difficult ones. The Friday night parties, the dances, the games, and other activities created good times and memories for WHS students. However, an occasional forgotten assignment or a bad test grade, resulting in disappointed teachers, created a few problems for some students. But this year students were also allowed to enjoy lunch in the place of their choice, seniors had an option to go to college second semester, and more interesting, new classes were offered, including Pre-Calculus, Technology Concepts, and ReCare. Outside of school, the football team made a positive change and students showed a renewed sense of school spirit. Other student activities, such as the Women's Chamber Ensemble, the fall musical, the ski trips to Afton, and the P.I. food drive added to the momentum this year. 1985-86 has been an interesting school year, full of exciting new changes and enjoyable traditions.

A Change For The Better

Through the years, WHS has gone through many changes, most of them for the better. This year has brought about many positive changes. These changes include the open lunch shift, which became a successful experiment for senior high students, the concert choir's appearance at the Dome for the Prep Bowl games, and, after some controversy, the changing of the fall musical to "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown." Also, the football team experienced a successful season, making it to regionals with only two losses. Some other less recognized changes in school this year were the additional classes offered, such as Computer Programming, taught by newcomer Miss Emond, and ReCare, taught by Mrs. Carlson. All in all, the changes at WHS made the year exciting and successful.

Scott Foss, as Snoopy, creates a 'trophy' stance in the musical 'You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown.'

Barb Guettler, a senior, enjoys the new open lunch program at Hardee's.

Bill Koppi, a junior on the football team, practices hard.

What is your idea of fun? A class party without chaperones? A dance at the Lakeside? Going to a movie or out to eat? Maybe cheering on a Basketball game?

Almost anything seems appealing after a tiresome week. With the combined responsibility of school, a part-time job, and other activities, the pressures of the average high school student can be very high. As a result, students develop many ways to have fun. Some act in plays, some play sports or ski (water and snow) and some just like to find a place to party and relax.

Mark Hilgers makes a smashing shot.

Top. Traci Wilson and Jodi Bednar clown around between classes.

Above. Holly Bentz and Jenny Theis relax after Coronation.

Some Things Never Change

Although the past year has brought about many changes at WHS, some things have remained unaltered throughout the years. Among these are the traditional student habits, such as decorating lockers, indulging in junk food, and supporting the school athletic teams. Some basic domestic skills prove to be useful to students regardless of changing times. The need for classes such as foods, shop, and science will never run out. Some of the 'old stand-bys' at WHS have stuck through the changing times and created a memorable tradition.

Cady Connery and Jenny Roeser contemplate the art of baking cookies.

Lockers become second homes for creative students.

"This won't hurt a bit . . ." Richard Happ and Scott Foss dissect a cat as Andrea Fulkerson looks on in horror.

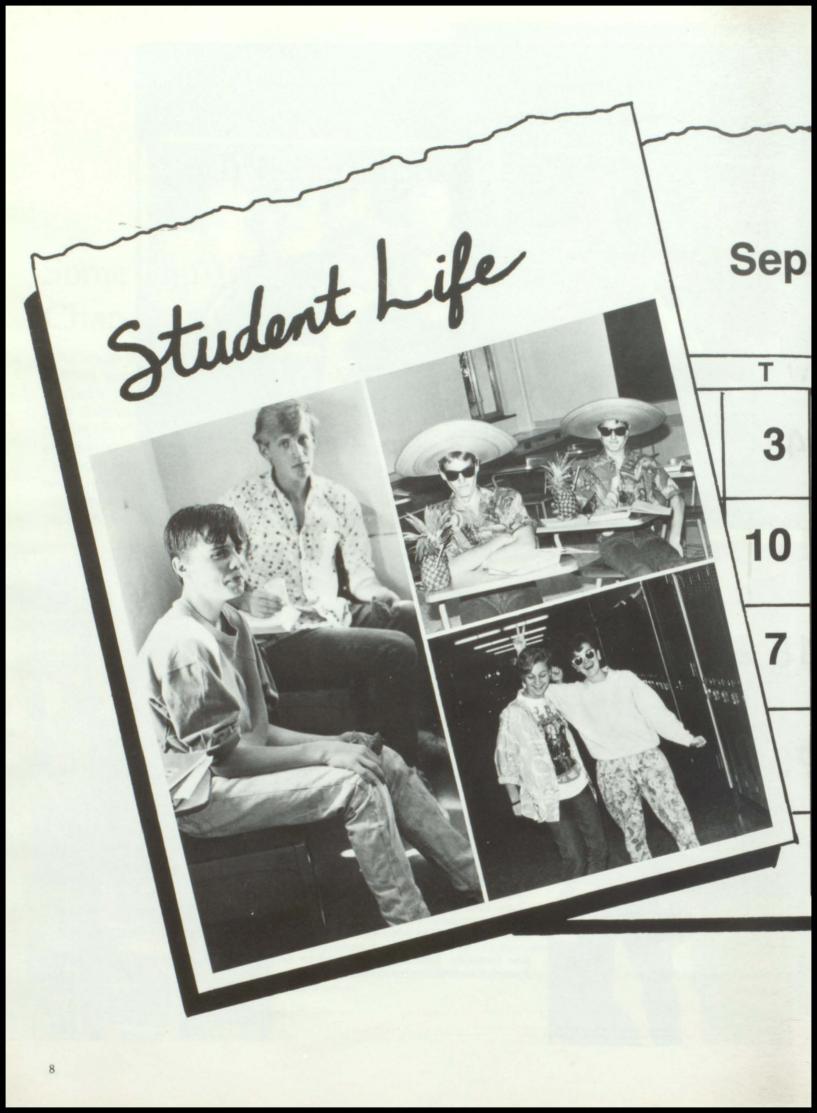

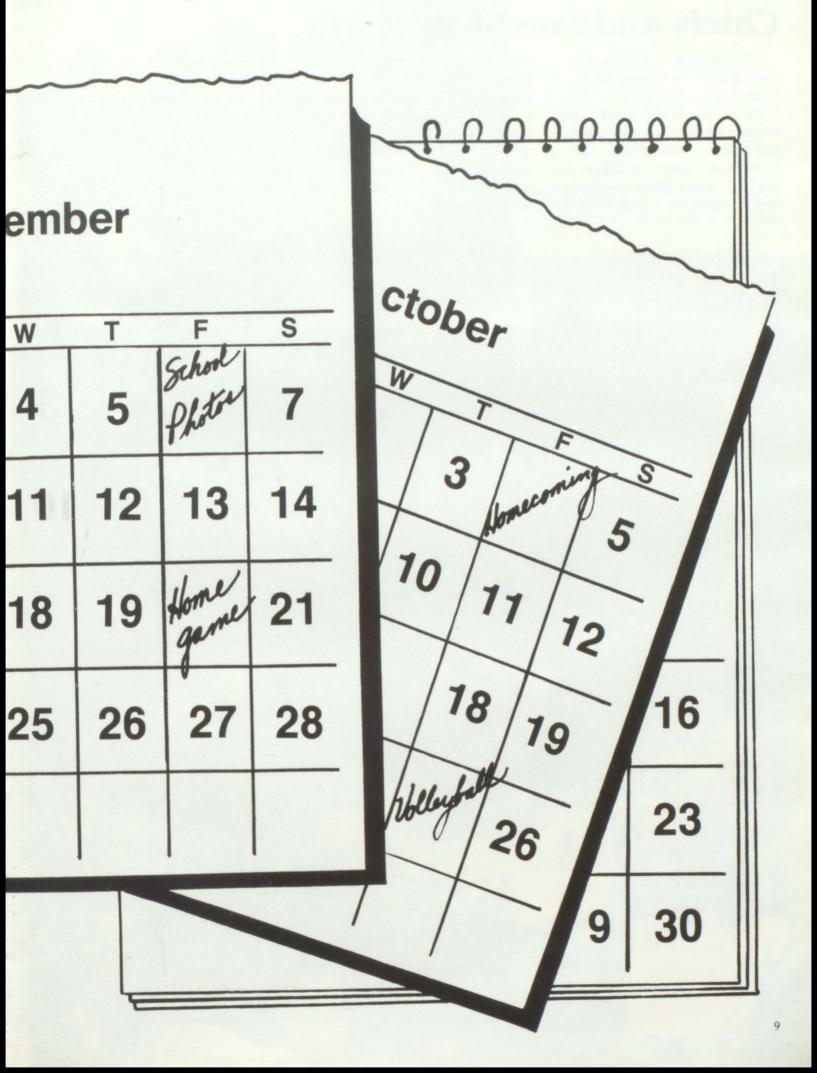

Cheryl VanHorn and Catherine Kirsch keep warm at a football game.

Tony Kunze and Mike Schuler get final revenge on football coach Mr. Benson at a pepfest.

Jane Hudinsky, Julie Braunwarth, and Jill Seeley show 'cultural' student eating habits in Spanish class with Doritos and Guacamole.

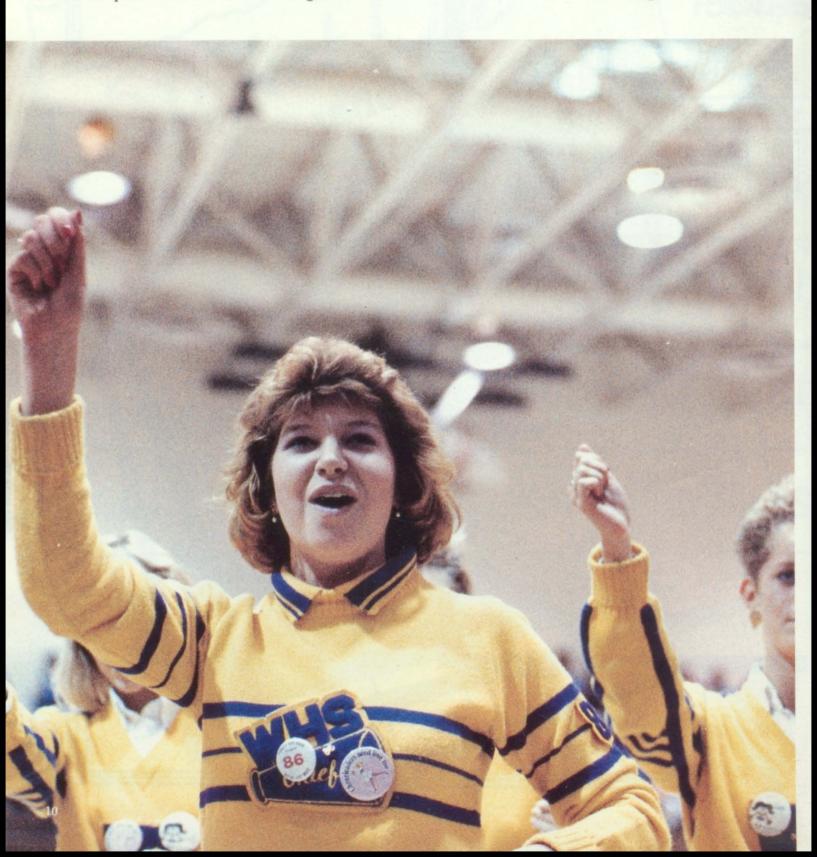

Chiefs And Fans Show Spirit!

"Gimme an S . . . Gimme a P . . . Gimme an I . . . Gimme an R . . . Gimme an I . . . Gimme a T . . . "

We've all heard about spirit whether it's from an irate coach at half-time, a schoolmate, or a cheerleader's cheer, as below, but few of us, when asked, could really find an adequate definition of the word. What is spirit? Is it the determination of a player to take his team out of a slump, the fidelity of a fan who supports his team through near-blizzard conditions, or the undying pep of a cheerleader who yells for her team even if they are losing? Spirit is all of these things and more. Students at WHS show their school and team spirit in many ways, but never is it more evident than during Homecoming week when students dress up, go to coronation, attend pep rallies, cheer their team to victory at the Homecoming game, and celebrate at the Homecoming dance.

Open Lunch Offers New Freedom To Students

Open lunch, new to WHS this year, was an opportunity that many people took advantage of. The new freedom was appealing to students. The most popular off campus places to eat were Hardee's, Mackenthun's, Lord Jim's, the Lovin' Oven Bakery, and home sweet home.

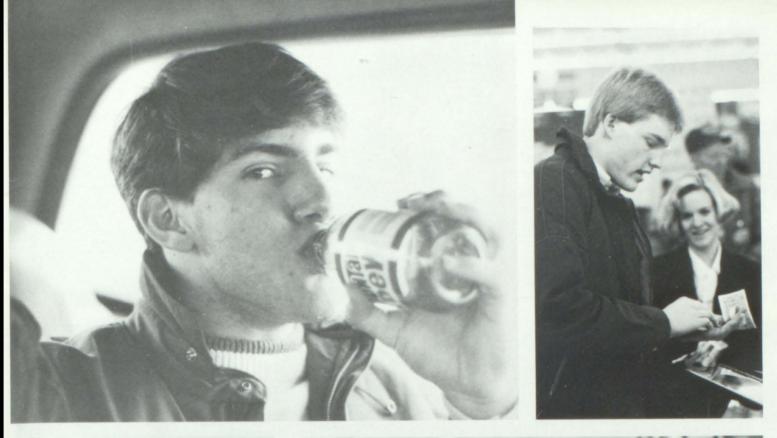

After eating out a few times, many students realized the school lunch was the best deal in town. The one dollar school lunch offered more food cheaper than anywhere in town. The higher price didn't bother the people who ate out because they thought the freedom of choice and just getting away were worth the extra money.

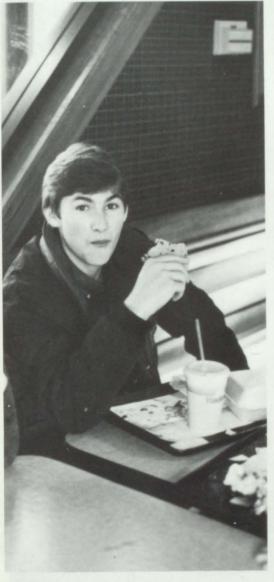

Top. Julie Braunwarth says, "Quick, I need a shopping cart!"

Top Right. Dean Otto shows that open lunch is expensive as he hands the cashier at Mackenthun's the big bucks. Above. According to Shelly Veverka, the fork is the main course to any real diet.

On many summer days Waconia students can be found skiing, boogieboarding, barefooting, and slaloming on Lake Waconia or Lake Pearson. When winter rolls around, the water skis give way to downhill skis. People take off for the local ski areas in the Twin Cities for some fairly good winter skiing. Many Waconia students enjoy both water and downhill skiing and are very good skiers.

The 1985-86 school year has brought about many exciting and surprising fashion trends. The old saying "History repeats itself" is certainly true in many popular fashion trends. As shown by Jenny Roeser on the opposite page, the 20's thigh-length sweater and 50's stirrup pants combine together for a hot new 80's look, while the printed pants that John Ebert is wearing (below) and heavy jewelry bring back the psychedelic 60's look. Hair for 1986 seems to be an individual preference, as Gretchen Salzl makes a statement on the opposite page. Still, a hair necessity at WHS seems to be styling mousse or gel, as shown by Shelly Veverka and Cady Connery (below). A totally new trend is the graphic watch craze. Way-out watches with paisley or neon geometric backgrounds are popular, and brands such as Swatch, A-Watch and Guess are frequently purchased for around $30.00. But, in spite of new trends, the old standby of sweatshirts and jeans will never fade out.

National International

The Challenger

The Nation rocked first with surprise, then terror on January 28, 1986, at precisely 11:39.13 a.m., when the space shuttle Challenger exploded. In that moment, 5 men and 2 women who dared to leave the safety of Earth seemingly vanished, their passing marked only by a 10mile high cloud which hung in the air for hours. The astronauts included Ellison S. Onizuka, Christa McAuliffe, (the schoolteacher), Gregory B. Jarvis, Judith A. Resnik, Michael J. Smith, Francis R. Scobee, and Ron E. McNair.

Mexican Earthquake

On September 19, 1985, one of the worst earthquakes of this century devastated much of Mexico's capital city. The next day a second quake struck. In all, 7000 people were killed, 30,000 were injured, and 50,000 were left homeless. Although many died, there were many miraculous survivals.

The Event of a Lifetime

Halley's comet, which appears every 76 years, returned during 1985-86. Scientists and skywatchers worldwide made every effort to view this wonderous sight, last seen in 1910.

Statue of Liberty

During December, 1985, the torch of the Statue of Liberty was restored. As a whole, the Statue will be repaired during the course of 1986.

Headlines The Summit Conference

The Reagan-Gorbachev summit conferences were held on November 19-20, 1985, in Geneva, Switzerland. The conferences were held in attempt to reach an agreement between the U.S. and Soviet Union on arms control. The conferences didn't actually accomplish much, except to melt the ice of the cold war felt between the U.S. and the Soviet Union for several decades.

Terrorism Strikes Again (and Again)

Several acts of terrorism killed and injured hundreds of people in 1985-86. Terrorist bombs aimed at El Al Airlines killed 14 and injured more than 100 people at the Rome and Vienna airports in December, 1985.

TWA's flight 847 included 150 passengers, 2 of whom were killed when the plane was hijacked by Islamic Jihad terrorists.

The Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro was seized by Palestinian terrorists, who killed an American tourist, October, 1985.

Colombian Volcano

Late one November night, in Colombia, a mountain exploded, nearly obliterating the town of Armero, once the home of 25,000 victims of the worst volcanic disaster in 25 years.

Libyan Conflict

On April 14, 1986, the U.S. claimed it had "exact, precise and irrefutable" evidence that Libya was behind a recent West Berlin terrorist attack on a bistro frequented by Americans. The U.S. then conducted a series of air strikes against "terrorist centers" in Libya.

Mark Goede — My first day of school here. It was great!

Bobby Deardorff — When the 10th grade football team beat Chaska 8-6. Paul Kelzer — Going to the National FFA Convention.

Traci Wilson — When all the guys came running around Marnie and me, yelling, "cat fight!" when we were just kidding around.

Andy Buik — I plead the 5th. No comment.

Steve Buetow — When I played 10th grade basketball.

Cathy Giesinger — When I was the mascot for Homecoming.

Jason Heinen — When you showed my picture in the yearbook presentation.

Brad Heyer — Open lunch — WOW! Danny Mason — I got the wrong schedule and ended up going to all the wrong classes the first day of school.

Carl Radde — When Jeff Wagener came to school with his mother's pan-tyhose in his shirt.

Brian Reichenberger — When I was late to Trnka's class three days in a row.

Karla Storms — When me and Gretchen walked into school with our freshly dyed black hair. Everyone hated it badly, and a certain teacher calls us the Bobbsey twins.

Bob Stelten — When everyone took me seriously about my girlfriend Billy in the Shakopee Reformatory — it was only a story.

Lara Logelin — Volleyball!!

Recently, several new Waconia businesses have been popping up along Highway 5. These include two new eating establishments. Hardee's and D'Vinci's, Everson's Hardware, and MGN Liquor Warehouse.

Football, Chiefs' Style!!!

3:00 — time for most students to head home. But for some 50+ Chief football players, it's practice time! And practice they did, with their hard work and dedication paying off in an outstanding season. The Chiefs were victorious over some tough teams, including a win over Shakopee for the first time since 1964. They placed an impressive second in both conference and districts.

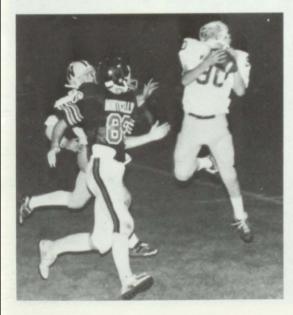

Credit must be given to head coach Ken McDonald, line coach Robin Jacobs, defensive coordinator Kim Benson, and sophomore coach Steve Hullander. Through the efforts of these men as well as the leadership of captains Tony Kunze, Scott Noble, and David Crislip, the individuals came together as a team.

A 9-2 record makes the best football season for the Chiefs since 1959. One of the biggest highlights of the 1985 season was reaching the playoffs. Waconia's first game was against Monticello, which the Chiefs won 20 to 14. The long season was brought to a close in the second playoff game. The Chiefs lost to the Hutch Tigers 42-22. The Waconia Chiefs went a long way this year.

Chiefs Return For Good Season

"Disappointing, but fun." That's the way senior Julie Braunwarth summed up the volleyball season. Team members agree that there was a lot of talent and potential on the team, but they had trouble getting it together. Diane Ohlsen, senior setter, said, "We never really played together as a team, but we did keep most of the games close."

The V-Chiefs finished their season with a disappointing loss to Regina in districts. The Chiefs were up two games to none and then gave up the last three. The Chiefs took fourth place in District 5A. After ending the season with a 6-8 record, the V-Chiefs like to look at their many laugh filled practices throughout the year.

Boys Build For Future

The 1985-86 boys' Basketball season was a time of rebuilding for the Chiefs. The Chiefs had it rough with only ten players on their Varsity squad. This season was also one of tough conference competition. The Chiefs posted a 3-13 conference record plus a 1-3 nonconference record. 6'-3" jr. Mark Hilgers, 6'-2" sr. Tony Kunze, and 5'-10" sr. John Perrill led the Chiefs with a memory filled season. Hilgers will return with the 5 other juniors to lead an experienced Varsity squad next year.

Individuals Flourish

The WHS grapplers were led by four-year wrestlers and cocaptains Jon Theis and Jeff Eischens. Theis had an excellent season, recording 21 wins and 6 losses. Theis was the only Waconia wrestler to advance to State, Eischens had a record of 18-5-1. For the fourth season, he won the Suburban West All-Conference award. Seniors Tom Jacobson and Doug Ohlsen had good seasons, but were troubled by injuries. Next year the Chiefs will look forward to the return of Stu Grote, Brad Ess and Kelly Wagener.

Seniors Expect Changes

How do you feel you will change in the next ten years?

Al Beaudet: "I will be married to Rachel and will be in a band and hit the big times."

Andrea Steiner: "I guess I'll finally be out of school and hopefully I'll be successful in life. One thing I do know for sure is that I won't be in Waconia. (except for class reunions)."

Greg Loxtercamp: "No more bow ties."

Lisa Holtmeier: "I'll be older, possibly married, have a steady job, not be living at home."

Klaus Bertelsen: "I will go home to Denmark and try to go through some more education and when I get done I will develop a match that can burn under water. I will take a trip to Hawaii."

Heidi Pretzel: "I am allowed to do more things. I have my own job instead of having my parents help me pay for things. You understand society more as you get older."

Rachel Wright: "I've made a lot of new friends and have had to take on a lot of responsibility and have had a lot of good times with my friends."

Gary Jensen: "Since I moved here I really got to know how to party."

Julie Weinzierl: "I have made a lot of new friends and have learned a lot of things about people and places. I have gotten more trust in things."

Monday Snooze

After the weekend some students find it hard to stay awake Monday mornings. Maybe you stayed up too late doing last minute homework, or you just had to watch the late late movie on T.V., or else, like most, you stayed too long at that great party the night before.

Here are a few of the ways you can get away with sleeping in school.

1) Pretend you are sick and go to the office and lie down.

2) Wear shades so the teachers will not know if you are sleeping.

3) Hide behind a book and pretend you are reading.

4) Tell your teacher you have to go talk to Mr. Winter and go out to your car and crash.

5) Go to the library and sleep.

About 7 years ago a popular hangout for most teenagers was the Paradise Ballroom, located on Lake Waconia. Today, a popular hangout for teenagers at the same location is the recently rebuilt Lakeside Ballroom. Many students go to dances at the Lakeside on Fridays or Saturdays to see popular local rock bands such as Starwolf, Dare Force, Obsession and Shaw. Many go to dance, socialize and meet new people.

Roby...We Will Remember You

It was Friday, February 7, 1986. The halls of Waconia High School were strangely silent as students adjusted to the news that Robert Joos, Jr., their light-hearted friend and classmate, had died that morning as the result of a snowmobile mishap.

Roby was an active and popular student with a lively sense of humor and zest for life. If Roby was in your class — you were sure to know it! Roby was also active in sports, playing both basketball and baseball.

Those who knew this vivacious and, in his own words, "diminutive" 15-year-old, loved him. His personality, charm, and wit inspired us and we will never forget him.

Teacher Involvement Brings Innovation To Social Dept.

I magine it's 12:00 on a Sunday night and you still have five pages to go on a foreign country report for Area Studies, or it's Saturday night and you have to stay home to finish the last 100 pages of your social problems book. At times like these, the average high school student is likely to ponder our highly involved social studies department in less than glowing terms.

New and innovative programs in social studies have been developed in recent years. One of these is the Project Ideas program for gifted students. Students are selected for this class using previous social studies grades and other factors as general guidelines. A board of teachers vote for student placement into this program.

Faculty involvement characterizes the WHS social studies department. If a student ever needs to discuss a grade, work on a project, sell a stock, or just talk, the social studies staff will always be on hand. This attitude towards students makes the social studies department a high quality educational opportunity for students.

Unity Of Purpose Characterizes English/Speech Department

"One interesting thing about the English department is that Ms. Schellack, Mrs. Kolb, Mr. Torborg and I all came to Waconia the same year. It says something that we have all stayed here since then ..." stated Mr. Wayne Mortensen, English Department chairman. This devotion and 'team spirit' has characterized the WHS English Department. Students develop an understanding for literature ranging from "The Outsiders" in tenth grade to Shakespeare's "Macbeth" in twelfth grade. Then there's composition. In these classes, one can learn the basics of grammar and how to write a paragraph using the "general-to-particular-to-general" method in just one short semester.

Band, Choir Strive For Excellence, Diversity In Programs

The Waconia High School Concert Choir, under the direction of Ron Larson, had quite a busy year. The choir was featured at Prep Bowl IV, sent four students to the Dorian Festival in Decorah, Iowa, gave their regular seasonal concerts, traveled to Luther College for the Dorian Choir Festival, and even began planning for a special trip to New York next year for the Big Apple Choir Festival. Mr. Larson has been with the school for 18 years and Mrs. Kathie Pedersen has been the choir accompanist for 4 years. The Choral Music Department, which also includes the choir for the seventh through ninth grades, has had many students go on to college and major in music.

This year's band program is headed by newcomer, Mr. Tim Pofahl. He replaced Mr. James Thulien, who had been the WHS band director for many years.

Physical Fitness And Good Health Are Major Goals Of Phy. Ed./Health Dept.

Stretch, 2, 3, 4, release, 2, 3, 4. These are words often heard in a Phy. Ed. class led by Mrs. Lois Lien, who has been with W.H.S. for 31 years, more years than any other teacher currently working at Waconia.

Phy. Ed. and health classes both strive to give students a background and knowledge in keeping themselves healthy and physically fit. The teachers of these classes all believe that achieving a balance in health and physical fitness will help students at Waconia to lead happier, longer lives.

In health classes, required for all sophomores, students are taught about the human body, how it works, diseases it can contract, and the proper nutrition it needs to keep it healthy. Mrs. Jeanne Anderson teaches these classes.

Phy. Ed. and Health classes strive to teach a balance of good health and physical fitness. In the Phy. Ed. Department, Mrs. Lois Lien, Mr. Al Blanshan, and Mr. Mel Anderson teach students many athletic skills. These areas include social dancing, volleyball, floor hockey, and many others. Units such as archery, orienteering, track and field, weight training help students learn individual skills, and team sports such as basketball, badminton, baseball, and touch football teach students to work together in groups.

Prepare For The Future With Business Ed/ReCare

I n the past, most classes were designed to teach the student basic facts and figures that pointed him or her in the direction of higher learning. Basic practical skills were lost in the shuffle.

But, today, classes like Business Education and ReCare teach students skills that prepare them for the world at large. Business Education students learn to operate business machines, run computers, manage finances, and present themselves to the job market. All of these skills are practical and give students job skills they might otherwise not have.

ReCare is a new class at WHS. In this setting students learn to improve their study skills. (The name itself means "to care again.") Instructor Mrs. Sharon Carlson gives each pupil an individualized program to aid in working towards their individual goals. Students learn practical approaches towards life and the basic skills needed to make them successful human beings.

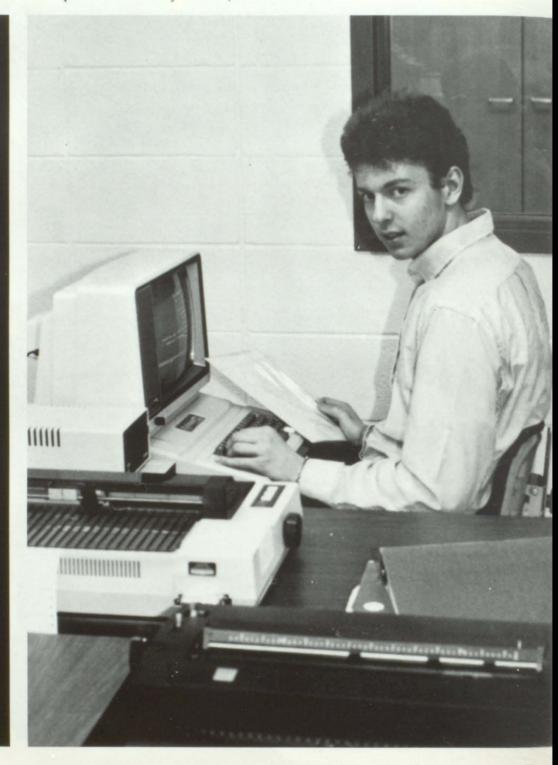

Mr. Ken Gerding

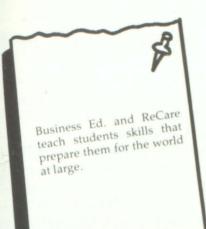

Ms. Lydia Thometz

Even though at first glance, these classes may seem quite basic, below the surface they hold many rewards. A student needs only to apply him or herself towards their programs to reach the desired goal — success.

Students Enjoy Spanish And Art Electives

D o you know how to say "hello" in Spanish? Can you create a "perspective drawing"? Students taking Spanish and art can! These classes open up worlds of opportunities — both vocational and entertaining.

Vocational opportunities available to art students are varied. Architecture, drafting, interior design, and fashion design are some of the many career opportunities available to people trained in the basics of art.

Foreign language speakers are in constant demand. Many jobs as translators, social workers, teachers, law enforcement officers, and government workers require at least some knowledge of the Spanish language.

Besides the obvious benefits of new job opportunities, students say Spanish and art are fun! The feeling of accomplishment one gets from completing a project or being able to read something in another language is worth all the work!

En Español:

;S abes cómo se dice "hello" en español? ;Puedes crear un dibujo perspectivo? ;Los alumnos que estudian español y arte pueden! Estas clases abren mundos de oportunidades — profesinales y divertidas a la vez.

Oportunidades profesionales obtenibles por los alumnos de arte son variadas. La arquitectura, el dibujo lineal, el diseño interior, y el diseño de las modas son unas de las muchas oportunidades profesionales a la disposición de las personas especializadas en los fundamentos de arte.

Siempre hay necesidad para personas que hablan otros idiomas. Muchos trabajos como traductores, profesores, representantes de la ley, y empleados del gobierno requiren por lo menos un conocimiento básico de español.

¡Además de los beneficios obvios de oportunidades aumentadas para trabajos, los alumnos dicen que el español y el arte son divertidos! El sentimiento de logro que se siente por cumplir un proyecto o por poder leer algo en otro idioma vale toda la pena de los estuerzos.

Ag/Vo Tech Students Develop Job Skills

D o you know what your future holds in store? What will you be doing 5 years from now? Students enrolled in VoTech and Agriculture classes are already started down the road towards their futures. Students taking Agriculture plan on careers in farming, and students in VoTech plan on careers in many fields. Agriculture classes teach students such diverse skills as animal nutrition, tractor maintenance, concrete and masonry, animal science, job interviews, hydraulics, ag salesmanship, electricity and electric motors, financial planning, cash flows and budgets and formulating livestock rations. A class for seniors called Agriculture Career Experience gives students the chance to get actual work experience in agriculture-related jobs.

VoTech Classes such as Food Occupations and Construction Trades really prepare students for their future.

In Food Occupations, students get an overview of the jobs available in the food industry. Work is made to be as close as possible to actual on-the-job experience, with students using commercial food service equipment:

In Construction Trades, students cover basic skills in carpentry, electrical, masonry, plumbing, heating, and painting. Student projects include construction of a 1200 square foot house from footings to completion and several remodeling projects.

Home Economics/Ind. Arts: Not Just For Stereotypes

A few years ago, it used to be an unwritten law that boys took Industrial Art and girls took Home Economics. But in recent years this has been changing drastically. It is now not at all uncommon to have the boys washing the dishes and the girls doing a drafting layout. With the traditional roles of boys and girls being set aside, more and more students are taking courses that were previously not available, and many doors are being opened up to these students.

The Home Economics Department teaches basic things, like measurements and simple sewing and cooking to underclassmen and also offers more involved classes such as Child Development and Foods II. For the older students, these classes can also become an extracurricular activity for those who choose to be in FHA (Future Homemakers of America.)

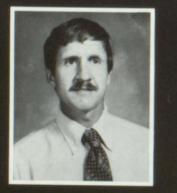

In the Industrial Arts Department, basic skills in spot welding,

Both of these areas teach skills important in many possible career opportunities and may also be helpful to the student at home.

Science Classes Teach Students 'Elements' of Life

Finding the thickness of alcohol in a pan of water, discussing the elements and locating Corpraquadragemini are common dilemmas facing those students enrolled in science classes. Science classes offered include Chemistry, Biology, Human Anatomy/Physiology and general science. As with any science class, these offer knowledge to the students about the world they live in.

For example, Biology, which is taken by sophomores, gives basic background on everything from microorganisms to the human body. College Biology and Human Anatomy/Physiology (which alternate every other year) are the classes whch go into finer detail on living things. These two courses are available after the completion of Biology. In Chemistry, students explore the molecular structure of chemicals, perform experiments in evaporation and probability, and discuss protons, electrons and neutrons.

"Science is organized knowledge." — Herbert Spencer Science students also spend time in the lab doing experiments and getting "hands on" experience dissecting cats and looking at a human brain.

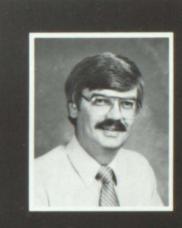

Another option for the sophomores is Mr. Laulainen's Plant and Animal, in which students are given the chance to study in depth the life cycles and processes of living matter and also to discover likenesses between species. Opposite Page. Top. Kyle Berger endures yet another Biology filmstrip.

Math Dept. Initiates "Ungraded" System

T he Math Department, headed by Mr. Leo Schlumpberger, has been working very hard the last few years to "ungrade" its math classes. Years ago a seventh grader took seventh grade math and an eighth grader took eighth grade math and so on right up to the twelfth grade, no matter what the student's ability. But the Math Department realized from testing kids of all ages that there were differences between the students. Some students were barely passing on their level and some were having such an easy time that they were completing their assignments early and were not being challenged as they should have been.

The Math Department decided to change this. The first step in getting this goal accomplished was to test the students who either excelled in class or who were lagging behind. From there the students were placed in classes according to their ability, not just their grade. For instance, if there was a twelfth grade student who was struggling in twelfth grade math, then he or she could be moved to a lower class. Also, if there was a seventh grader who seemed gifted in math, he or she could easily be moved up into a more difficult level of math.

With this program, students can now work at their own pace and be challenged accordingly. Opposite Page. Top. Mr. Schlumpberger corrects another hard-taken Algebra II test.

Limited Warranty Rocks Waconia

The efforts of the Waconia Junior High Student Council paid off when Limited Warranty, the Minneapolis-based rock group, came to Waconia High School on March 7, 1986. They came to support a smoke-free "generation." Showing their support for the cause, more than 300 students rocked and danced to the music.

Spirit Week ... More Than Just A Tradition

Spirit Week, an annual event at Waconia, is looked forward to by everyone, including the teachers. The event lets the students have fun, dress crazily, be wild and show school spirit all at the same time!

Toga Day and Nerd day are usually the most popular. Hat-n-Shades Day was expanded to include Hawaiian Day and Inside-Out Day was also a success. The week ended with the traditional Purple, Gold, and Jersey Day.

Spirit Week is all part of Waconia's school spirit and support. Because it is such a popular event, for such a good cause, it will continue at WHS for a long, long time.

Coronation: The Crowning Moment Of Spirit Week

The 1985 Homecoming Coronation was held in the WHS auditorium on Tuesday, Oct. 1. Twelve candidates waited anxiously until Tony Kunze was dubbed and Shelly Giesen was crowned. Cheerleaders, danceline members, and the pep band all added to the memorable event.

WHS Brings Animation To Life

This year's musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," was very unique in its approach to please the audience because it doesn't have a plot. Instead, it is made up of many different short skits that are the goings on of one day in the lives of the "Peanuts" gang. All of the characters except Snoopy are children.

The musical numbers that are woven throughout the play are all humorous and range from foot stomping chorus numbers to amusing solos. This vignette filled musical was directed by Mr. Ron Larson and Ms. Sonja Benson.

Below. Lucy, for a fee, of course, gives psychiatric help to Charlie Brown.

"Three On A Bench" Brings Student Recognition

This year's one-act play, "Three on a Bench", was more than just successful — Two of the four member cast earned awards. The cast consisted of Amy Ebert as Betty, Steph Tice as Mrs. Moore, David Crislip as Henry, and Mike Rock as Officer Callahan. Steph Tice was awarded Best Supporting Actress and David Crislip had the honor of receiving Best Actor in district competition.

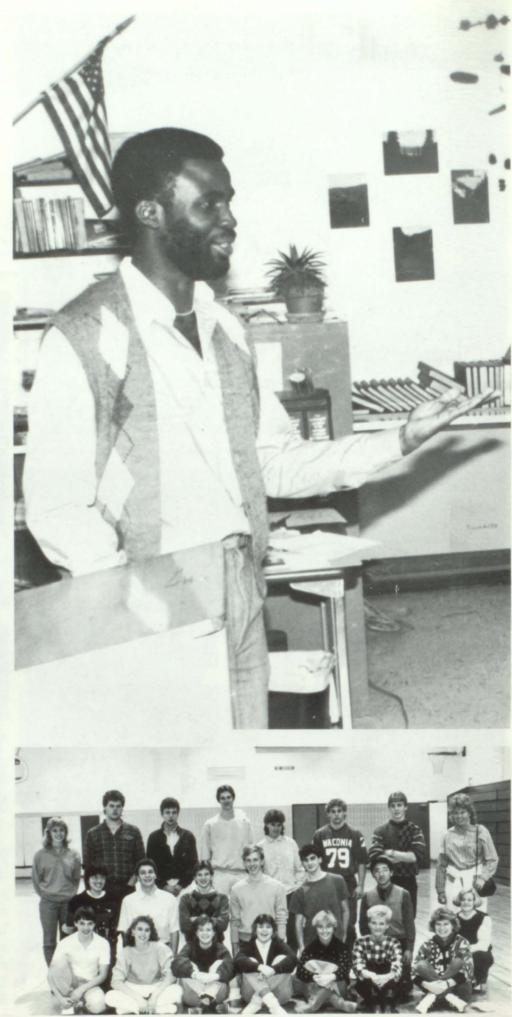

EXPANDING OUR HORIZONS

A striking success is the only way to describe the '86 International Days. International Days gave some WHS students a chance to host students of the same age from foreign lands. It was a time to enhance one's knowledge about things that are happening elsewhere in the world. It sort of made a person think, "Wow, that place really does exist." It is often easy to get caught up in the world and forget that those places are around.

It was a fun time; everyone got to exchange a little "culture." Nine students from the surrounding Twin Cities area stayed Feb. 5-8, coming from such places as Hong Kong, Italy, Spain, Chile, Sweden, Finland, Germany, and Belgium. They shared information about their countries by talking and showing slides to WHS students. International Days was a big success because everyone cooperated and wanted to have a little fun. The experience was beneficial to hosts, guests, and WHS students alike. Hopefully this will become a tradition at Waconia and continue for a long time.

Student Council Rates High

This year's Student Council consisted of bright, innovative people who spent their meeting time improving the school. They provided students with the traditional dances, Homecoming, fund raisers, and many excursions. Student Council's major accomplishments included open lunch, Camp Manakiki lock-ins, and Limited Warranty.

Publications Add Something New

The 1986 yearbook staff is made up of students with a variety of different talents. For the first time in many years, the yearbook staff is working under the supervision of an editor. Wendy Johnson, who has worked on yearbooks since ninth grade, is editing the 1986 Chieftain.

The yearbook staff also contributes some of their time to help Andrea Steiner with the production of the Tomahawk, the student newspaper she edits. This year the format of the paper was changed by using a special computer program.

Extra-Curricular Bands Stay On Top

The marching band's recurring success has become something almost taken for granted by the community and even the band itself. However, at the beginning of the 1985 summer season, the marchers realized they were facing two obstacles. First, they had the smallest band in competition and were contending with bands more than twice their size. Second, the band members learned that Mr. James Thulien, band director of WHS for 14 years, was leaving. Despite these two obstacles, the band pulled through in summer competition with high ratings.

Mr. Thulien's successor, Mr. Tim Pofahl, has put much time and effort into keeping the band's traditional excellence alive. If Mr. Pofahl's success with the pep band continues on with the marching band, the summer marching season will be a good one. Under his direction, the pep band added to its high reputation. The exposure the football and basketball play-offs brought was an added boost.

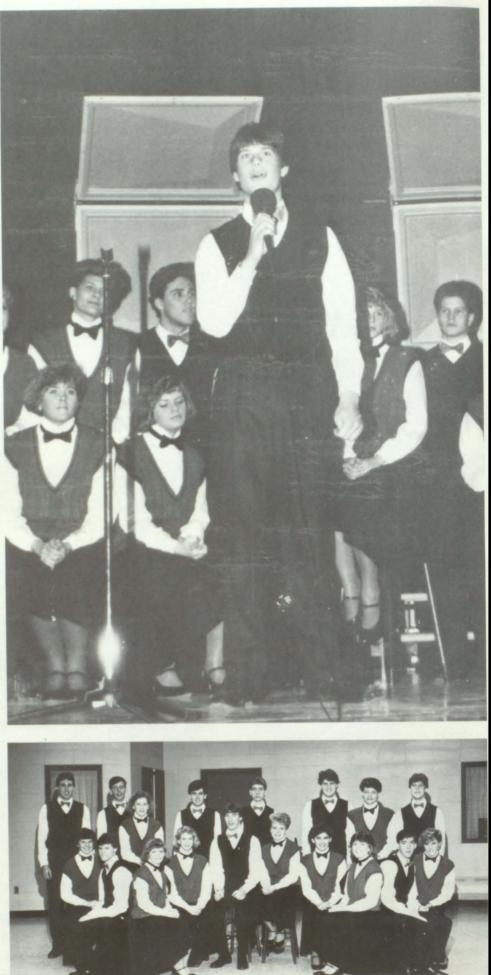

Vocal Groups Showcase Talent

This year Mr. Ron Larson keeps tradition alive with the everpopular Pop Group. A highly selective activity, Pop Group performs at concerts and contests and does its own show once a year. Pop Group was expanded this year to include 14 singers along with the back-up musicians.

Chamber Ensemble is still a relatively new group at WHS but it is a successful one. In the past two years since it was started, Chamber Ensemble has received superior ratings in state-wide competition and is consistently well-received at concerts. It is currently looking forward to another successful year.

Prom Night, A Class Act

Although the class of 1986 voted their song to be "Never Look Back" by Boston, many will look back to the night of April 5, 1986. That was the night jocks traded sweats for tuxes and girls gave up jeans for evening formals.

Prom Night is an annual tradition in every high school, and Waconia is no exception. But while some schools decorated the gym with crepe paper and balloons, WHS students went to the ritzy Lafayette Club in Wayzata for their celebration.

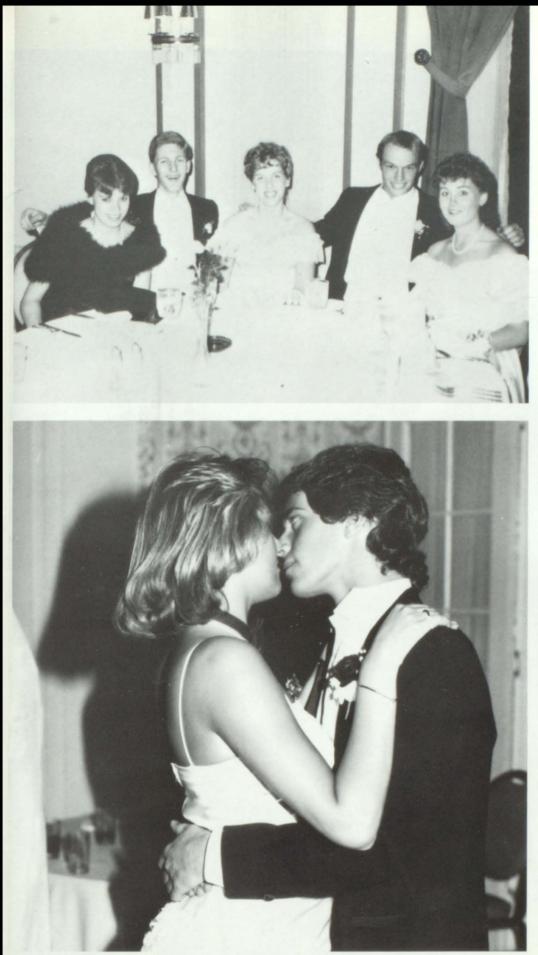

Prom has always been something special for Waconia students, so most don't mind forking out the extra cash needed to cover the expenses of such an event. For 1986 juniors and seniors, the cost was $25.00. This included a steak dinner, the use of the club, and the WLOL Sound and Light Show.

IN DEDICATION TO The Man In Charge

Whenever Waconia High School is mentioned, almost always the first person that comes to mind is Brook Peterson. Mr. Peterson, the senior high principal, has dedicated himself to the Waconia school system for twenty-four years. In appreciation, the yearbook staff wishes to dedicate the 1986 Chieftain to him.

Through the years, he has seen many changes in the students. Compared to students in the 1980's, he said that teens between the years 1965-1975 were less concerned about getting what they could from their education. Showing a keen insight into students, he said, "They weren't willing to focus on any goals for themselves ... they were struggling for values at a difficult period of time." An overall change he saw in the school was significant improvement in votech, college prep, and special education programs.

But exactly what does a principal do in a day? "It's a trouble-shooting job," states Peterson. "Whatever pops up must be dealt with." This includes playing peacemaker between the school board, faculty, and students, checking attendance and dealing with truant students, composing a weekly and daily schedule, evaluating teachers, registering students, hiring faculty, handling parental calls — actually helping them make decisions about what's best for their child -, meeting with teachers, and several mechanical things, such as handling building expenses. But a lot of students know Mr. Peterson for handling disciplinary measures. Mr. Peterson says that he likes "a good working relationship with students when they have problems." He is willing to forget the past mishaps of students.

Most people are unaware of what goes into a principal's job. It includes tact when needed, social working skills, bookkeeping ability, and a lot of patience. Mr. Peterson has handled this job for 24 years with competence and ease. Waconia is fortunate to have such a dedicated "man in charge."

Bottom: Mr. Peterson and Mr. Kovaleski share a laugh at a board meeting several years ago.

"Brook Peterson is a man of principle and conviction, and his dedication to education is widely known throughout the professional field as well as the local community. Mr. Peterson is a very caring person ... It's a real pleasure to work with him."

> -Sue Melichar Mr. Peterson's

Secretary — 20 yrs. "Mr. Peterson is a dedicated professional, an enthusiastic colleague, a supportive supervisor, and a terrific human being."

> -Lydia Thometz Teacher

"Mr. Peterson is a man full of more compassion and caring than anyone I have ever had a chance to meet."
